WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Although rains have brought cheer throughout the nation's great agricultural regions and other showers are in prospect, President Hoover's program of drought relief through Federal, state and local cooperation may be expanded to include at least 16 states.

Mr. Hoover today awaited definite requests from governors of several states on the fringe of the drought area. Inquiries at the White House indicated that formal requests would be forthcoming.

While the department of agriculture attempted to define limits of the hardest hit areas as a basis for the presidential plan, it is admitted many bad situations exist in states not represented at the governor's conference.

The full story of the drought has not yet been told in Southern states. Unfavorable weather, it is said, may necessitate relief action being taken in at least three Southern states which hope to solve their own problems.

Maryland Included

The first complaint of lack of an invitation from the President came from Governor Ritchie of Maryland. The White House replied that reports showed some counties in Maryland badly affected, but not sufficient to (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Rain which started falling about 10 o'clock today was the second shower in a couple of days since the long drought was broken. The rain today was of a real soaking variety and will do much good for vegetation which can yet be saved.

New Castle has the unique role of being host to two state conventions at the same time next week. The state K. of P. and the state carpenter's conventions meet here at the same time. We are satisfied however that the Pa New family will prove equal to the task of acting as simultaneous hosts to both gatherings.

Banners of the K. of P. decorate all of the downtown streets of the city today, having been erected because of the opening of the state convention in the city on Monday.

Important streets are being given a thorough cleaning today and will be spick and span for the delegations of visitors coming here on Monday for the convention.

Workmen were busy pulling weeds out on the lawn of the Cathedral hillside yesterday. This is a fine time to lift weeds from lawns. They can be drawn out very easily.

AIR PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN DURING JUNE

U. S. Engineers, working under authority given them by Congress at the close of the last session, are now in the field starting the actual survey of the Beaver, Mahoning, and Shenango river canalization project, according to word received from Pittsburgh today.

According to the information received from the U. S. Army Engineer's office in Pittsburgh the survey work will be rushed along as rapidly as possible, so that a complete report can be rendered to the Inland Waterways Commission as quickly as possible.

Under present plans, canalization of the Beaver and Mahoning rivers is planned as far as Niles, O., which would be the opening wedge in a canal route between the Ohio river and Lake Erie.

It is known that a photographic survey of the district was made in June from aeroplanes as a preliminary step toward the actual survey work which is now underway.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Judges, political leaders and police officials today were asked to explain the appearance of their names on cancelled checks, notes and other documents found in the seized financial records of Jack Zuta, murdered "business manager" of the North Side gang.

Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney who discovered the records in Loop Safety Deposit Vaults planned to question the men named. Such questioning, he indicated, would be preliminary to any grand jury action.

Enormous Business

Zuta, was assassinated two weeks ago, after he is believed to have paid off the slayer of Alfred "Jackie" Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter who was murdered June 9. He was a "big business" man in the underworld. His enormous financial operations—one balance sheet showed that the North Side "mob" did a weekly business of more than $400,000—made it necessary for him to keep records as complete as those of a legitimate corporation.

After completing their lunch, the three men started for Oakland making a short cut through the tunnel leading to the New Castle plant and then by path around the plant to make their way to Oakland over the Pennsylvania railroad bridge.

When they had reached the path in the shadows among the tin plant property, their three alleged assailants ran up the railroad tracks and started a battle using stones, clubs and other means of offense.

Krupa and Kline gave battle so hard that their assailants were beaten off and they made their getaway. Zajac was not so fortunate and was overcome and robbed of $32.85, his pocketbook and other valuables.

Tanned from two weeks of hard military drill and battle maneuvers at Camp Stewart, Mount Gretna, members of Troop F, New Castle's unit of the Pennsylvania National Guard, arrived in the city this morning.

Lieutenant Harvey G. Bintrim, Troop commander, and the 63 guardsmen brought with them military laurels won at the training camp. The organization was complimented by leading military strategists at the camp for winning fourth place in a competition among many troops in the 52nd Cavalry brigade for platoon problems involving leadership and combat tactics.

With the guardsmen came 29 cavalry horses, six more than the organization had when it started for camp two weeks ago.

The guardsmen were met at the Pennsylvania station upon their arrival at 8:20 a. m. today by Louis B. Round, chairman of the Citizen's Military Committee of New Castle, sponsor of Troop F and First Lieutenant John Kennedy, Financial Reserve. The guardsmen were treated to coffee and buns, furnished by the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, through arrangement by Attorney Clarence A. BRIDGES ARE ON PERRY HIGHWAY

Bids were opened in Harrisburg on Friday for the building of two bridges and nearly two miles of macadam road in Lawrence county. The bridges are to be built on the Perry highway, one short one near Rock Springs and a bridge and viaduct near Grant City, crossing the Muddy creek and the Western Allegheny railroad. The road to be built is one of 10,573 feet from a point on the Harrisburg road near Elliott's Mills into the village of Plaingrove.

Low bids for both bridges came from the Whittaker & Diehl company of Harrisburg at $115,754. The low bid for the road in Plaingrove township was from Martin & Fronfield of Camp Hill, Pa. (near Harrisburg) at their bid of $50,228.

The bids for the bridges and new road work mark the last contract letting for Lawrence county this year and will close a season of road and bridge building unprecedented in the history of the county. Contracts will probably be awarded to the bidders mentioned.

Believe 42 In Mine Are Dead

(International News Service)

PRINCETON, B. C., Aug. 16.—Forty two men were still entombed in the Blackburn Coal Mine today, and it is the opinion of mine officials that all of them are dead.

Rescue workers who had been battling through the debris and coal in the tunnel leading to the point where the men were working at the time of the blast were withdrawn late yesterday.

When smoke was seen coming from the depths of the mine it was believed another explosion might occur and endanger the lives of the men working in the tunnel.

Mine officials concluded last night that none of the miners could have survived the carbon monoxide gases even if they had not been killed by the explosion.

MURDERED MAN'S RECORDS REVEAL MYSTERY CHECKS

recipients of payments from the slain vice baron, and who are to be questioned are:

Joseph W. Schulman, for the last nine years a judge of the municipal court, whose name appears on cancelled checks and notes totaling $5,500.

George Van Lent, former state senator and one time political power on the West Side.

Emanuel Eller, former judge of the municipal and superior courts, and son of Morris Eller, boss of the twentieth ward.

Louis I. Fisher, attorney and brother of circuit judge Harry M. Fisher.

Richard J. Williams, sergeant of police.

Zuta's records run back more than nine years, to the time when he was an obscure keeper of disorderly houses on the West Side. The first time Judge Schulman's name appears in them is on a note for $1,000, dated December 21, 1921, payable in three months, signed by Zuta and endorsed in blank by Judge Schulman.

Similar notes for $500, dated May 22, 1922, and for $1,500 dated August 15, 1922, were found, as were cancelled checks for $500, dated February 21, 1922, and $1,000, dated August 15, 1922, signed by Zuta and payable to and endorsed by Schulman.

There was also a check memorandum of the West Town State bank, dated December 29, 1925, stating that a check was made payable by Schulman to Zuta had been returned by the judge's bank, unpaid.

Judge Schulman was reached by the International News Service at his summer home at South Haven, Mich. He said, when asked about the checks and notes:

"I never had any business transactions with Zuta. I never saw the man but once, then when he was arraigned in my court. In 1921 I was buying a home, and was temporarily pressed for money. At that time I had some business transactions with a young lawyer who shared my office, whose name I don't recall. He got some money for me."

"If my name appears on any checks signed by Zuta, it is because I gave them in return for checks which I drew myself to the order of other persons. I never did Zuta a favor in my life. I will return Monday to my duties on the municipal bench, and I will be glad to go before the grand jury at any time."

Former Judge Eller's name appears on a check for $250 dated April 4, 1922. At that time he was conducting his campaign for election to the municipal bench. He was out of town today, but his law partner, Simon Herr, said:

"This is a clever attempt to cast poison at former Judge Eller. I am not worrying, and I know he is not. He will return to Chicago Monday and I know will be able to explain this satisfactorily."

Glimpses Of Nature

By Owen Penfield Fox.

Having spent fourteen years in the Boy Scout movement whose foundation is based on the Outdoors Life naturally I saw a great deal of the open.

As the years go on I see more people turning to the Outdoors for enjoyment and to learn more about nature. It is an established fact that people live longer who spend their lives in the open. As an example I point out the American Indian who spent his life chiefly in the open air and sunshine and who very often lived to be quite old until the white men drove them from their wigwams and urged them to change their ways of living.

Sickness is often the result of not getting enough of the out of doors tonic fresh air and golden sunshine, even the song of birds is a good tonic for you.

It is never too late to get acquainted with nature. There is interesting discoveries to be found in the visits to the woods. You can develop a skill in knowing birds, and the various roots and plants, and their uses as food and medicine.

Early fall is the best time to get your knowledge of the edible things that nature has provided if we but try to find them, and learn.

A hand book on plant life is necessary if you do not have a naturalist friend with you on your nature study trips.

Wild plants have been the salvation of many a person who know their uses, not only as a food, but they also supply fiber for the making of cloth, medicines, oils and numerous other useful things. Plants are good friends and it is good to have a knowledge of them and understand them.

The Wild Peppermint that grows so abundantly in the woods is so refreshing when used with summer drinks and is good for flavoring meat.

Slippery Elm and the inner bark of Tamarac make a good nourishing drink and is often used by Out Door men when their supply of tea or coffee gave out.

Many people who are having their first camping trip are subjected to slight colds, and if they would boil the twigs of the Spice Bush to a thick syrup and sip it their discomfort would quickly disappear.

The ever plentiful Cat-Tail that you see as you go spinning along the road, can be utilized as flour take the ripe centers and pulverize them and when sifted will make good pan biscuit.

One of the best candies can be made from the center stalks of sweet flag that are cleaned and boiled in brown sugar syrup.

When the first frost hits the Mulberry or "partridge berry" as Out Door men call them you will have a berry that is good to eat and of a sweet rich flavor.

This berry also saves the lives of many of our song birds that stay with us during the winter.

One of the best foods in nature store-house is the roots of the Indian cucumber, they taste like the cucumber that grows in the garden. The Indian dried the wild cucumber and used them for seasoning meat.

The Bullrush that grow plentiful in swampy places, its root can be dug and it resembles Artichoke, but is much larger, and is one of the best thirst quenchers you can get when it is hard to find good water to drink. Flour can also be made of the roots when necessity arises.

The numerous amount of edible roots and berries that lie in the bosom of nature is unbelievable and the only way these discoveries can be made is by grasping the opportunity that waits you to know them.

create a state-wide problem. Maryland, however, will be welcomed in the fold.

Twelve governors originally were invited to cooperate, and Tennessee was later included on request of Governor Horton.

With President Hoover at his Rapidan River camp for the week-end, Federal drought relief plans were being carried forward by agricultural department officials.

Advancement of allotments of Federal aid road funds and the offer of the war department to turn artillery ranges over to Virginia farmers for pastureage constituted the first concrete acts since the governors' conference.

Loan Problem The Federal Farm Board was considering the appeal of Governor Jackson of Montana for aid in saving thousands of head of cattle and sheep.

Either feed must be imported or the livestock exported to other states with good pastures. Erickson urged the farm board to buy the cattle outright, through subsidiary agencies, feed them and market them.

The loan problem, which has aroused critical comment from some governors, will be reconsidered by the Federal government.

As soon as state drought-relief committees are named, President Hoover will invite the banking representatives on the committees to come to Washington and confer with the farm board and heads of the Federal farm loan systems.

Krupa was unable to be at police court this morning on account of his injuries but Kline and Zajac were there and again positively identified Pagley, Marino and O'Neil as their assailants.

As a result, Chief of Police C. C. Homer made charges against the three at the court of Alderman Walter T. Hamilton. You're the JUDGE Dealing entirely by means of the telegraph a certain firm agreed to buy a cargo of grain to be shipped by a boat specified in one of the wires.

The date on which the telegrams were exchanged was June 20. The ship was ready to load by August 15, and the buyer was to have the right to cancel 30 days later if the ship were not ready to load by that day. But the customer did not wait that long. Not more than a week after the exchange of telegrams the customer repudiated the contract.

The seller waited a month and then filed suit. It wasn't until a month after that, that he sold the grain and, when he did it was at a loss of $10,000.

This was the amount for which he sued. When the trial was called the customer argued that the loss should have been figured at only $1,000—what it would have been at the time the contract was repudiated. But the court split the matter and set the loss at $5,000, what it would have been at the time the suit was started. And then both sides filed an appeal.

How would you decide this case? Make up your mind before you read the decision.

PASSENGERS AND CREW ARE ADRIFF AT SEA IN BOATS

engines were stopped at 6:45 p. m. Thursday when the propeller was lost, leaving the vessel tossing helplessly on the South Pacific.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Aug. 16.—An epic struggle between man and sea was being waged in the trackless wastes of the South Pacific, today as the Royal Mail Steamship Tahiti, carrying nearly 300 passengers and crew from Wellington to San Francisco, wallowed in a sinking condition with a lost propeller, according to word received here.

With the ship's engine room flooded to a depth of 11 feet and with no hope of immediate rescue in sight, every able man aboard manned the pumps in a desperate battle against the merciless sea.

Believed to include a number of Americans, stood by equipped with life-belts, prepared to take to the boats at a moment's notice.

Out Of Shipping Lanes The Tahiti, a 26-year old twin-screw steel vessel of 7,898 tons, cast a propeller approximately 64 miles from Rarotonga in the Cook Islands group, from the busy shipping lanes of the South Pacific. Fragmentary messages received from the captain of the steamer indicated she was helpless and in dire need of assistance.

Three ships are rushing to the Tahiti's aid. At top speed, but even granting that the weather remains moderately favorable, there seems little hope rescue vessels can reach the stricken ship's side before noon Sunday.

Passengers Terror Stricken Terror-stricken passengers cheered but slightly by assurances of the ship's officers that the Tahiti's life-boats were sufficient in size and number to guarantee safe rescue of all, were herded together on the boat-deck, their most cherished possessions in their arms, awaiting the expected word to take to the cockleshells of life-boats when all hope of keeping the steamer afloat is gone.

A fairly heavy sea was running, the captain reported, with the barometer falling, indicating a change for the worse.

Rushing to Rescue Immediately upon receipt of the Tahiti's first message of distress, the nearest vessels changed their courses and rushed to her aid. The S. S. Ventura and Tofua, both cruising in the vicinity of Samoa, shifted their courses and headed for the Tahiti's position under full steam. The Norwegian freighter Penybryn, 4,251 tons, also headed for the stricken vessel. The Penybryn was expected at her side at noon tomorrow.

Flooding of the Tahiti's engine room crippled the dynamo used for operation of the wireless, and difficulty was encountered keeping in touch with the sinking vessel.

"SHADOWS OF THE LAW"
WILL THRILL NEW CASTLE
MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY

All Ladies Attending the Penn Theater Monday Afternoon or Evening Will Receive a Beautiful Portrait of William Powell

"Shadow of the Law," which will be shown at the Penn theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, is a new type of picture for Powell. This role gives him none of the sophisticated superiority of the Philo Vance portrayals. Nor yet does it impose a sinister glow. The Powell of "Shadow of the Law" is a quiet, living engineer drawn into a web of circumstances which land him in prison. The story is packed with drama, excitement, unusual and novel scenes, rounded, human characterizations, really great acting and solid entertainment.

Innocent, Powell is convicted of murder, sentenced for life; desperate, he breaks out of prison in a thrilling escape, establishes a new identity, meets romance; fugitive from justice, he cannot declare his love; tracked down, he takes a daring, thrilling chance, proves his innocence, assures his happiness.

The cast includes two women well worth seeing, Marion Shilling, a com-

Hawks, Champion Flier.
Brains Will Rule.
He Will Steal No More.
To Make Opera Pay.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features
Synd., Inc.)

Capt. Hawks is now world's champion flier, and has beaten all records across this continent westward and back again.

Flying from Los Angeles to New York in 12½ hours, he beat Col Lindbergh's record by two and one-half hours, and his engine was never "wide open" on the trip.

Describing how he "loped along at 250 miles an hour" between Albuquerque and Wichita before a tail wind, he said he hoped to make the crossing in shorter time later this fall, when conditions are better. Three thousand miles in 12½ hours is not bad. At that rate or speed, you could fly around the world in less than five days. Jules Verne never thought of that.

The British dirigible R-100 is off on her homeward trip.

Jackson and O'Brien, continuing their non-stop endurance record, have flown without stopping for 24 days. They promise to go on for at least 20 days longer.

The Prince of Wales in the air watching the British Royal Air maneuvers was mistaken by his own fliers for "an enemy" bomber, savagely pursued and driven to the ground.

Martin J. Insull, president of the Middle West Utilities Company, debated the power question with Norman Thomas, able New York Socialist.

Mr. Thomas said, "A room full of men controls the nation."

Mr. Insull might have replied, "A skull full of brains controls your whole body."

The individual body will always be controlled by a small skull full of brains. And nations will be controlled, at least for many centuries, by small groups of men.

In ancient days food was usually given to anyone in need. The law allowed an expectant mother to take fruit from any orchard. None could interfere with her. Customs and laws have changed. Near Toledo, O., Elmer Tilton, 45 years old, out of work for seven months, went out with his oldest son, Lewis, aged 17, to get some food.

Unfortunately they tried the farm of Les Coy, 23 years old, who farms single-handed, supporting a blind father, and is frequently annoyed by crop thieves. He was sitting up late with a gun, when Tilton and his son began digging his potatoes. Father and son were both shot dead.

Someone else will have to supply food for Tilton's six other children.

Samuel Insull and other Chicagoans who can afford it learn that grand opera last year cost them a loss of $558,528.26.

It seems a good deal for opera, but it would be only small change for the radio.

Mr. Aylesworth, who runs the National Broadcasting Company, which you probably hear every day, pays more than $20,000,000 a year for "talent."

And great industrial concerns, like General Electric, spend many millions of dollars to make their advertising announcements attractive.

Chicago opera might easily make up its deficit by letting Mr. Aylesworth broadcast the performance, with short advertising talks between the acts. The audience in the opera house need not hear the advertisement, and the public would be edified. Why not combine business with opera?

Dr. Swallow is dead, aged 91. Formerly a Methodist preacher, he ran for president as a prohibition candidate, in 1904, and was defeated. But he lived to see prohibition the law of the land, and to see Herbert Hoover as a prohibition candidate, get about 20,000,000 votes. Gov. "mith," a wet platform, getting about 15,000,000 votes, many millions more than any other Democrat ever got. The improbable happens.

Naples, already cruelly punished, was out to celebrate with religious and other rejoicing the cessation of the earthquake visitation yesterday, when suddenly a large section of the city was struck by a savage tornado. Four are dead, six dying, many injured.

Fortunately the tornado struck early, before the city was crowded with tourists. The firemen, however, crowded the churches when the tornado besieged, seeking protection, while church bells were tolled loudly, warning and summoning the people.

It was stated here, in haste, that it is the matter with the country and nobody knows what it is. Telegrams from many places mention gentlemen who know what the matter is and how to cure the trouble.

Florida, Washington, California, each have several individuals prepared to "put the nation back in its stride." The statement that nobody knows is withdrawn.

Wednesday being the thirteenth, unlucky day, Mr. William Slater, driving with his wife, turned out sharply to avoid hitting a black cat. To hit such a cat on the thirteenth was most unlucky. Mr. Slater hit a telegraph pole instead of the cat, and was cut and bruised. His wife was hurt on the head. The cat was not hurt.

TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS

TALK BUSINESS UP AND IT WILL PICK UP

In the past few years there has been a new competition for the old-time storekeeper. To say it is a new competition is incorrect, for it has been in existence for seventy years; but only recently has it been an alibi for failure in business.

Everywhere you care to go you can hear that "all over" merchants are being forced out of business by this competition. Every four-corners storekeeper who for any of a dozen sufficient reasons closes his doors, lays the blame for it on either this new competition or "business depression." The truth of the matter is that there are no more people going out of business than there ever was. It could be said here that a man cannot go out of something that he was never in; and as for going out of business, by far majority of these were never in "business." It was because they did not get into "business" that they failed. A man can "run" a store without being in business.

To prove further that this "depression" is more a mental hazard than fact, let us consider the selling of a class or particular group. Take the farmer for an example.

Not long ago I stood in a first-class retail store in a very good town of average size, when a farmer entered. The owner of the store called the man by name and said: "Well, Jake, how's things?"

And right away Jake started telling just how things were with him—everything wrong from A to Z. The merchant stood there and heard the tale of woe—a tale that he knew by heart—and after many minutes of it the farmer said: "Well, guess I'd better be getting," and out he went.

I said to the merchant, "Why didn't you sell him something?" to which he replied: "Oh, he didn't want anything. These farmers, you know, are in a bad way." Without explanation to the merchant I immediately left the store.

The farmer was walking down the street and I followed. He went into another store—a different store—and just as I entered I heard a man say to Jake, "... How's things by you?" Again the same tale of woe. While the narration was going on another farmer came with his wife, and the four of them—the three farmers and the merchant—had a ten-minute talk on how terrible things were.

At the conclusion the merchant said to one of the men: "You folks going to need a new stove this year?" "No" was the answer. And what else could it be?

I followed Mr. Jake into three other stores in that town, and in each case the merchant gave him an open invitation to tell how tough things were; and in all but one case he left the store without a single purchase. The purchase, made in the last store, was an item that was carried by the first store he entered. It is a ten-to-one shot that he went into that first store to buy that item, but after telling of his troubles went out without it.

BUT, "Jake" thought he was in a bad way, he thought times were hard, and the merchant not only agreed with him, but encouraged him to believe it by prompting him to talk about it.

Therefore, he WAS in a bad way, and times WERE hard, whether they were or not.

Let enough people think a thing is so and it will be so. If you leave your home some bright morning and say to the first five men you meet "Isn't this a fine day?" and each one says: "Yes, but I think it will rain before night," by the time you reach your store or office it IS going to rain—for you—and you'll see black clouds on a perfectly clear horizon.

Get sold on the idea that you can sell more; sell the customer on the idea that you ARE selling more; and give that customer a reason why he should and CAN buy more, and this "business depression" hazard will fade into the myth that it is.

Is Dr. Goddard still working on his rocket? What will be accomplished by it?

New impetus has been given to Dr. Goddard's studies by the donation of a fund by Daniel Guggenheim for the development of the Los Angeles rocket.

It is impossible to estimate what the rocket will do for science, but one of its practical uses will be to make automatic data that can be obtained in no other way. Precision instruments will be placed in the rocket compartment and will register these data. Then a parachute will bring them back to earth, where scientists will be able to deduce certain facts about the atmosphere that they do not know now.

How does the new rigid airship that the navy department is having built compare with the Los Angeles?

The new ship ZRS-4 will be great improvement over the Los Angeles in many ways. It will have range without refueling at a 50-knot cruising speed of 9,180 miles, compared with the Los Angeles' 3,500. The nominal gas volume will be 6,500,000 cubic feet, compared with the Los Angeles' 2,470,000. Its length is 285 feet, maximum diameter 132.9 feet. It will have eight engines, three more than the Los Angeles. It will have a maximum speed of 72.8 knots, to the Los Angeles' 63.5. Many new ideas of rigid airship construction are being used and without doubt this ship will be a tremendous improvement over any other we have.

What was the middle name of General U. S. Grant?

General Grant was christened Ulysses Hiram Grant. A congressman, in making out his certificate for West Point, did not know his middle name, but knowing that his father's name was Sam, inserted Grant's initials as U. S. There was never any official change of the name, but the initials were adopted and used by General Grant until his death.

Says Drought To Solve Surplus Wheat Problem

SHICKSHINNY, Pa., Aug. 16.—John H. Local Boys Are Sentenced For Stealing Auto

Joseph Copple Held Pending Word From Morganza Authorities In Case

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 16.—Joseph Copple of New Castle, who pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a large sedan, belonging to James Leeper, 421 Wayne street, linotype operator on the Butler Eagle, was remanded to jail to await word from Morganza relative to what disposition the authorities at the penal institution desire made of the case when arranged before Judge Campbell Friday.

His companion, Joseph Pasquerello, also of New Castle, who likewise entered a plea of guilty, drew a suspended sentence on payment of costs, ordered to make restitution to the owner of the car for the damage done and placed on probation for one year.

Copple was out on parole from the penal institution when he committed the theft, and the Morganza authorities are anxious he be returned. He had bummed his way from Pittsburgh to Butler, he told the court, and, unable to "thumb" a ride to New Castle took the sedan, which was parked nearby.

When he met Copple, according to Pasquerello, the former told him the machine belonged to his cousin. The boys were apprehended in New Castle, when a complaint was received by police of that city that they were stealing gas from automobiles at a beach.

Copple was once suspected in a robbery but acquitted by the jury. Later he was committed to Morganza, according to his story to the court, for failing to go to school, and served twenty-eight months. Pasquerello admitted he was arrested once for driving without a license, and suspected as a store thief, but not brought to trial.

Damages to the sedan which was returned to its owner, approximated $75.

UNIVERSITY, Va., Aug. 16.—The Institute of Public Affairs, in which prohibition has been warmly debated in the last ten days, was told that the Eighteenth Amendment is a success, and that Canada's liquor control system, about which Americans hear much, is a failure.

The speaker was Ben H. Spence, Washington correspondent for the Toronto Daily Star. He prefaced his address with the statement that one acid test is necessary for all liquor systems: Under which do the people consume the most alcohol?

Were the Canadian system to be put into effect in the United States immediately, estimating this country's population to be twelve and one-half times that of Canada, the United States would spend nearly two and a half billion dollars a year for liquor, assuming the per capita consumption to be equal, he said.

Government control of liquor in Canada is incorrectly named—it should be Government sale, Mr. Spence said. "The Government simply acts as selling agent for the brewers and distillers and purveyor to the drinker," he said.

Mr. Spence called liquor "the least leakable liquid that ever leaked," in referring to the difficulty of controlling it.

"It has the peculiar property," he added, "of being able to soak and seep through all kinds of legal and other dams."

Farmers To Mass Against Fires

Mercer County Farmers To Form Volunteer Organization Next Week

SHEAKLEYVILLE, Pa., Aug. 16.—Residents of this section will form a volunteer fire fighting organization next Tuesday evening at a mass meeting here. This action is to be taken in an attempt to reduce the fire loss in the district and to have men who would be ready for duty in case a large fire broke out.

The need of such an organization was stressed early today when the large barn on the Alex Ross farm, one-half mile west of Sheakleyville, was burned to the ground. Mr. Ross discovered the flames at 5:30 a. m.

Farm machinery, hay and oats, which were in the barn, were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $5,000, part of which is covered by insurance.

FIREMEN WON'T FIGHT BLAZES OUTSIDE CITY AFTER BEING INSULTED
HAZLETON, Aug. 16.—Because Hazle town citizens insulted Hazle town firemen who went to their aid when their homes near the city line were endangered by forest fires and told the local companies that they were paid to fight fires and had to do the work, Hazle town has halted work outside the city limits.

Calls are answered now, but the apparatus and companies halt at the city lines and wait for the fires to get so close they menace properties in the municipality.

The trouble about many of the probes is that there is not enough regard for property.—The Savannah Morning News.

Food Needs Regulated By Appetite

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
To summarize the point we have been making, a balanced diet for an adult contains (a) enough nutrition which is 2,500 to 3,000 calories per day.

It has (b) enough protein, which is about 100 to 150 grams a day—an egg, a glass of milk, a helping of meat, a piece of bread, or a helping of peas or beans. It has also enough salt and enough water.

It has (c) some fresh food such as milk, oranges, grape fruit, lettuce, tomatoes, lemons, limes, grapes, spinach or yeast.

It is free from harmful bacteria and parasites.

That is not only a balanced diet. It is a healthy diet. For a person who is not sick it is all we know that a healthy diet is. Any additions to that or any further balancing or admonitions are purely theoretical and individual expressions of opinions.

Now the natural question arises "How am I going to get such a balanced diet every day?"

To the average person this consideration may leave him quite at a loss. Is he to weigh every article of food he eats every meal? Is he to look up the protein content of every food-stuff he chooses to see if it contains the proper amount? Is he to measure out his salt and water? Is he to have a bacteriologic laboratory attached to the kitchen to see that no powerful bacteria are in his food?

Certainly not. You know perfectly well nobody in good health does that, and you know they continue to be in good health. Life would be intolerable under such circumstances.

Fortunately for all of us we have several helpers which keep us straight on this. Some of them are natural forces, some belong to the industrial regulation of the world's commerce today.

First under the natural forces comes appetite. It is wonderful how delicately this regulates the proper amount of food to consume. When you exercise or work hard you break down more tissue. You need more nutrition and more protein and water—and you have a better appetite. "I played tennis today and I'm hungry as a bear" you say. Cause and effect. Or "I don't feel like I'd want to eat much supper. I just sat around all day." Sometimes it errs by making you eat too much, or sometimes when you are a fever by making you eat too little, but in general it is a very delicate regulator of your needs.

Next among the great natural forces are taste and smell. Nearly everyone likes fresh fruit. Everyone like a variety. Human means would not have developed during the history of the world into varied dishes if people did not "crave" them. Smell generally tells you when food is so contaminated as to be unfit to eat. No, always, but often.

Lastly the merchandising world in general has learned to offer foods which are proper for a balanced diet. And also city and national boards of inspection have established chemical and bacteriologic laboratories to protect you from harmful contaminations.

So the end of all our science is that if you follow your own instincts in the matter of eating you will be doing the most scientific thing.

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—A bomb set by a mysterious intruder damaged the Union Labor Hall here early today.

Residents for a block around tumbled from their beds in alarm at the terrific concussion shook the surrounding neighborhood.

Actual damage to the hall was slight, the explosion taking place in the washroom of the structure.

A meeting had been held in the building a short time prior to the blast and police advanced the theory that the bomber miscalculated the time the infernal machine was to have gone off, as no one was in the building at the time of the actual explosion.

BABE NEEDS MORE THAN HOOVER

How much food does a man need? Dr. Logan Clendening, noted Diet and Health column writer, says it all depends on the kind of work you do. President Hoover, he explains, may labor many more hours than Babe Ruth but the Babe needs more energy because he does twenty times as much muscular work. Paul Whiteman and Rudy Vallee go through much the same motions in leading an orchestra, yet when the round Paul walks up a flight of stairs he has to make greater drains upon his supply of energy since he has almost twice as much weight to lift.

Games and music were enjoyed and a pleasant time reported by all present.

IT'S WISE TO  CHOOSE A SIX

Announcing a new production record

2,000,000 Chevrolet Sixes now on the road

Since January, 1929, Chevrolet has produced and sold over 2,000,000 six-cylinder automobiles—nearly five times as many as any other manufacturer has ever built in an equal length of time.

These 2,000,000 buyers have chosen Chevrolet because it offers many desirable qualities not obtainable in any other car so low in price—

—the smoothness, silence and flexibility of a modern six-cylinder engine—the comfort and roadability of a modern, full-length chassis—and the style, safety and distinction of bodies by Fisher.

Yet, despite these fine car advantages, the Chevrolet Six is unusually economical. Its gas, oil, tire and upkeep economy is unsurpassed. And

All four occupants of the car were hurled clear of the wreckage and scattered along the right-of-way. Police Chief C. A. Livingston heard the whistle of an approaching train from Pittsburgh and with the aid only of a small pocket flashlight succeeded in bringing the train to a stop just a few feet from the helpless victims. The crossing is guarded by a watchman until midnight and by danger signals the remainder of the time.

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 16.—After a business firm advertised in a newspaper that it wanted to sell a perfectly good saloon with "no liquor difficulties," catering to a select trade, County Prosecutor E. O. Correct this sentence: "I urge loyal citizens to keep their money at home," said the merchant, "so of course I don't let my wife buy anything from Paris."

Livingston said the warning lights were working properly at the time of the accident.

Urges Keystone State Farmers To Plant Now

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Pennsylvania gardeners were urged today by the Department of Agriculture to plant fall crops of vegetables as a means of retrieving losses suffered by the drought.

Gardeners can grow turnips, kale, spinach, late lettuce and late snap beans with reasonable assurance that the crops will mature, the Department plea set forth, and added, "especially if the drought is broken by late summer rains."

"In many cases it will pay to plant now in anticipation of rains later. When the soil is dry covering the seed with fine earth will help greatly to promote germination. The use of only a small amount of water directly on the rows will also be a great help."

Trolley Buses May Be Used In Beaver Valley

Plan To Try New Plan Between Ambridge And Rochester

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16.—Trolley buses—an innovation in this district —will be placed in operation between Ambridge and Rochester, if the intervening communities give their consent, it was announced today by Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh Railway company.

The plan announced by Fitzgerald is to install eight buses as an experiment. In reconstructing the roadway between the two cities, which is deemed a necessity, the plan would be to eliminate relaying the car tracks.

Trolley buses now in use would be maintained, according to Fitzgerald, and the buses would operate in their usual place, obtaining power from the trolley.

Trolley buses, he declared, have been tried out successfully in many eastern communities. It is claimed they are less expensive to operate and easier riding.

The Parent Problem

Don't Weep Over Child—Bad Habit

We parents have a curious habit of eternally asking, "Why did you do that?"

The lad of two pulls down some magazines and papers, scattering them over the floor. Perhaps he has torn a page or two when you arrive upon the scene. Ten chances to one you say, "Why did you do that?"

The boy of four gets into a quarrel with his sister, pulls her hair and slaps her in the face until someone arrives to ask him why.

Nathaniel, just past nine, has been playing with his jackknife when he cuts his finger. Then he utters violent oaths. "Why did you swear, my boy?" inquires his much-shocked mother, with no doubt about her strong emotions.

Catherine of twelve goes over to her playmate's house right after she was clearly told to practice her piano lesson. When she returns her mother meets her with the question, "Why did you disobey?"

Morris brings from school the term's report card. He has a failing grade in Algebra. "Why have you failed?" the high school boy is asked.

Perhaps not one of these questions was asked in a wholly calm and matter-of-fact way. They were full of feeling.

Then there are all sorts of cases where the child is put on trial, questioned and cross-questioned, with the one inquiry thrust at him again and again: "Why did you do it?" Listen now to the parent-prosecuting attorney, with his choking, sobbing voice, with his diaphragm, abdomen, spine, neck and feet and hands conspiring with the voice, sometimes with tears.

Occasionally the child also is forced to weep.
Weeping over children, even to the point where they join in our weeping, is a bad practice. It may work occasionally but when it works well once we are so delighted with the manifest success that we will frequently resort to it thereafter. By and by our child grows hardened to our sobs and tears and either considers us childish or learns gradually to enjoy having us weeping over him, worrying about him. Our grief suggests to him his great importance and guarantees to him our extreme attention and solicitude.

When you ask the child faced with some admitted wrong why he did it, rarely does he know why. He just did it. When pressed hard enough he gives some explanation. He is compelled to say something. He invents the reason even when he knows he is not speaking truthfully.
Or, he may think he is saying the truth when he is not. In this respect he is like you and me. The reasons we give for some of our conduct, reasons we conscientiously believe to be correct, are often farthest from the truth.

When we scold a child to say why we are not actually in search of facts. It is a way we have of showing our deep disapproval. We really mean, "Why with such a parent as I am should I be dishonored and annoyed by you my child? Why did you not consider me more important?"

Unconsciously when you (or I) resort to such measures you get, as a rule a lot of sneaking satisfaction despite your apparent grief, in observing that you made the child "feel sorry." Maybe you did; maybe you didn't. Many a child can begin the flow of crocodile tears with ease, learning as he does, that as they begin to roll your torturing of him will surely cease. How curiously we parents often act. What egotists we are!

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

36. The Puritans—The Overthrow Of Andros

THE TYRANNY OF SIR EDMUND ANDROS, ENGLISH VICEROY IN AMERICA, LASTED NO LONGER THAN THE BRIEF REIGN OF JAMES II IN ENGLAND. THE AMERICAN COLONISTS JOYFULLY HAILED THE NEWS OF JAMES' DETHRONEMENT AND FLIGHT AND THE ACCESSION TO THE THRONE OF WILLIAM III, PRINCE OF ORANGE, TO WHOM PARLIAMENT HAD OFFERED THE CROWN (1689).

AT ONCE THE PEOPLE OF BOSTON ROSE IN ARMS, OVERTHREW THE HATED VICE-ROY AND HIS RED-COATED OFFICERS AND SET UP THEIR OLD GOVERNMENT. SIMILAR UPRISINGS TOOK PLACE IN OTHER COLONIES.

ANDROS AND HIS MINIONS ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE ABOARD AN ENGLISH FRIGATE LYING IN THE HARBOR BUT WERE CAPTURED BY THE COLONISTS AND THROWN INTO PRISON.

(Copyright, 1930, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

WILLIAM III, A LIBERAL MONARCH, RESTORED MANY OF THEIR FORMER LIBERTIES TO THE AMERICAN COLONISTS (1692) BUT, TO THEIR DISAPPOINTMENT, RETAINED THE ROYAL GOVERNORS. THE DISPUTES BETWEEN THE COLONISTS AND THESE OFFICERS OF THE KING WERE DESTINED TO CONTINUE UNTIL THE OUTBREAK OF THE WAR FOR INDEPENDENCE IN 1775.

NEXT WEEK BEGINS THE STORY OF A MAN WHO AFTER GEORGE WASHINGTON RANKS AS THE GREATEST AMERICAN GENERAL IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR.

Sport Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

THE CHICAGO WHITE SOX deny the team is mad at itself. They just play that kind of ball naturally.

From the fans' viewpoint it's about time the Sox got good and mad at the opposition.

As Moron Mike, the headache salesman, points out, the only time New York was first this year was when they counted the census.

The St. Louis Cardinals are the best National league team—on paper. But not in that part of the paper on which is printed the standings and box scores.

The long feud between the Giants and Brooklyn is filled with baseball romance, writes somebody. Sure, they fight like married people.

For all we care they can begin work immediately on that mile and a half snow slide to be built for the 1932 Olympic winter sports.

A round-trip ticket on one of the slides would go kinda good right now, wouldn't it? But not as good as a season ticket.

Unknown Woman Star May Capture Tennis Crown In Tournament

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—With nobody in the field except Mrs. Luke McLuke and her sister-in-law, it seems to be the common idea today that Betty Nuthall of England is going to take walk to national women's championship in tennis singles next week at Forest Hills and, to be truthful, if form is served, there isn't a chance for anybody else. As a matter of fact, the big break the Americans will get is that form is very likely to be served.

It seems that Miss Nuthall isn't quite so spry as she was a couple of years ago and they say that some unknown American will swarm over her like a party of visitors before the coming week is another week, as it were.

Personally, if I were to hazard a guess at the winner of next week's tournament, I would pick an unknown and so escape the apprehension that is visited upon those who conform with the obvious and usually live to regret the fact. Outside of Miss Nuthall, this is a chump field and so a lot of people have lost no time in conceding a victory to the invader. Not to give anybody a succinct answer, I think they are silly.

Losing Stride.
I think in the first place that it is very unlikely that Miss Nuthall is able to play half the tennis she showed here last year against Mrs. Helen Willis Moody, the perennial champion, who is very tired of it all just at the moment.

In the second place, I believe there is a better tennis player than Betty Nuthall in the 54 women who will start in the championship on Monday. Probably it is nobody's business but my own, but I happened to like the chances of Miss Dorothy Weisel of California.

I am aware of the fact that she hasn't beaten a first class player in a season of tournament effort, yet the conviction rides that some American woman is going to win this championship and, of all those who look like a plausible guess, Miss Weisel looks like the best. She isn't a so-called seeded player like Mrs. L. A. Harper, Marjorie Morrill, Eleanor Goss, Sarah Palfrey, Edith Crox and a few others but she has the thing they so obviously lack—tournament potentialities. The seeded players actually are so many mediocrities. Miss Weisel, on the contrary, will never be ordinary. Hers is the type of tennis that must be very good or very bad and it is merely a guess that her temperament is such that she will select a national championship in which to play better tennis than she knows. As I understand it, Miss Weisel is like that. It seems that she is only good when the bets are down.

She has a great chance next week. Of course, so has everybody in the field. As a matter of fact, it looks like one of those open covenants openly arrived at and, for my part, I think Miss Weisel is as good as the next, which I fear means that the rest of them are not quite so good as they might be.

Gallant Fox Is Favored To Win

Gallant Fox And Whichone Race Today At Saratoga Springs, New York

By BILL CORUM
International News Service Sports Writer

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—At a mile and one-quarter, with 126 pounds apiece in the stirrups, before a crowd of 30,000 persons, over a track that promises to be good if not fast, Gallant Fox and Whichone meet again this afternoon, to settle beyond further question which is the better horse.

The Fox was the betting favorite at 9 to 10 and Whichone was at even money on the three other horses—Jim Dandy, Caruso and Sun Falcon—named for the race—you could write your own ticket without even making your conscience your guide. If all five horses named face the starting tapes in the Travers which is doubtful, the race will be worth close to $40,000 to the winner. This would put Gallant Fox now the second money winning race horse of all time, right up with Zev.

Sharkey Refuses To Meet Carnera

Jack Sharkey Boston Slugger Refuses To Battle Carnera In Chicago

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Jack Sharkey looked in on the Carnera bout at Chicago, turned around and walking right out again.

He won't fight Carnera on September 29. Instead he is going to cuff about with Victor Campolo for fifteen rounds at the Yankee stadium on September 25 for Madison Square Garden.

And all because of a lost clause, hidden in the Schmeling contract but "found" yesterday. Madison Square Garden, through its "legal staff," suddenly discovered that the corporation held an "option" on Sharkey's services as part of Sharkey's agreement made with the Garden folks when he signed to meet Max Schmeling for the world's title.

Charges "Run-Out"
NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Billy Duffy, American manager of Primo Carnera, today charged Jack Sharkey with running out of his proposed match with the Italian heavyweight in Chicago.

"Sharkey is afraid of Carnera," Duffy said. "He and a lot of others. But you can go on record with this. Max Schmeling will fight Carnera for the world's heavyweight title in Jersey City next June. They are going to build a giant arena there. Schmeling will not pay any attention to that trick contract with Madison Square Garden. I'll bet $10,000 that the fight takes place in Jersey City in June."

Carl Hubbell held the Reds to four mealy hits and scored a shutout for the Giants, 5 to 0. Terry got a homer and two other safeties.

Driving their former teammate, Frankhouse, off the mound in the fourth, the Cardinals lowered away the Braves 8 to 4. Hafey and Watkins both got four-basers.

Rain postponed all games in the American circuit.

Doll Show Marks Final Day Ellwood Playground

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 16.—Martha Jean Harris sadly walked away from the judges of the doll show, wheeling her baby doll which had taken no prize, but which, as Martha Jean assured others, was "much better" than any other doll in the show at Lincoln playground yesterday.

Josephine Flushing and sister Helen wearing their very modern pailuys gingham overalls, consoled each other. Their babies, just had not proved the right sort.

Janet Mook opened her hand. "Look" she said, here is the smallest doll, and sure enough there was a tiny bit of china, with one foot gone, and it was loaded down with the name of Shirley Louise.

Mary Mickish and Betty Stevenson had found no names to suit their objects of devotion, but loved them anyway. And of course we mustn't forget the doll all dressed in yellow or gingham with its little French combinations, etc., all made by its little mother.

Jeon Louise of the white frills belonged to Jean Gordon and Patty Lou wore her mother's golden locket.

Margaret Duffy was chagrined when a young lady asked if her baby was a boy. It's because of these clothes" she said, "that makes her look like a boy, her good clothes are all in the wash, and her name is Dolly."

Hazens Return From Western Trip, Friday

Woman Drives 12,000 Miles, In Three Months; No
Accidents

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Hazen accompanied by Mrs. Jennie Jones with daughters Louella and Lillian returned to their home on the Ellwood-Zelenople road last night having enjoyed a motor trip to the west coast, covering 12,000 miles with no accidents.

The local people journeyed by way of Texas to the west coast, through Mexico, British Columbia, Yellowstone National Park, Colorado Springs and home. They were gone for three months.

During their journey they stopped off at a number of the cities and visited the H. E. Walker family at San Diego, California. They found H. R. Cunningham at Glendale and Miss Mary and Miss Effie Aiken at Seattle, Washington, all in the best of health.

In speaking of his trip Mr. Hazen said that they were in a hailstorm at Yellowstone Park. The stones stayed on the ground for two hours, there were so many of them.

Two weeks ago while going through Lincoln, Nebraska, the barometer registered 112 degrees. The corn he says, is apparently destroyed on account of the extreme dry season. They Patricia Turner's heart was light. That little "baby" doll hugged to her heart had been pronounced the doll which looked most like a real baby, so why shouldn't she be proud and a bit swankey before her admirers and, should we say, jealous sisters?

And such dummies as wee Martha had. Of course we must mention the princess wearing a sovereign crown of silver foil and bright red dress with train and cape of rich red velvet, a bit of imagination brought to light by the proud little girl who owned this glorious creature.

Peggy Ann with her permanent wave, belonging to Marjorie Riley, Flirting Flossie wearing her pink or gingham and rolling her eyes, carried in her mother's arms, those of Dorothy Wallace who was wearing a red and white gingham overall suit. Babies were carried by one young lady one of these babies proved alive and happy. Betty Jane was Margaret Faurie's child.

While the little girls were proudly displaying their pride and joy, a very little boy snuck over to a corner of the bleachers where the doll show was taking place. When he thought that nobody was looking he slipped something out of a tiny box, and that something proved to be a very flord pink Kewpie doll dressed in blue, which he fondled lovingly.

There were no rain during two months of their trip. Mrs. Jones drove the entire distance.

Children Return From Fresh Air Camp Happy Brown And Healthy

Eight Months Of Fresh Air In Country Give Children
Health

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 16.—The eight weeks were up. Thirty three very brown youngsters returned to their homes in Ellwood City yesterday afternoon, after a summer vacation spent at the Fresh Air camp near Breakneck bridge under the direction of the Community Service.

Not a child among them which had not profited by the fresh air, supervised play, sleep and regular and wholesome food. Some had even gained weight to the extent of 9 and 10 pounds.

Today the 40 acres of beautiful scenic country are quiet, no children are seen dashing here and there, followed by a happy barking dog, who cried when he thought that he was to be left behind as the kiddies returned in the cars provided by members of the Kiwanis club.

The children during the entire period of eight weeks, had certain hours of play, and rested between the hours of 10 and 11, then again from 2 to 4 o'clock. Miss Ida Cooper was supervisor of the camp and Mrs. Catherine Cook, prepared the foods.

Says Japanese Beetles Are Killed By Drought

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. Aug. 16—Hold everything! Here's one for the book: The drought has been discovered to be useful, after all.

Dried up streams, suffering cattle, puny vegetables, water shortage notwithstanding, the drought has done something for which man may be truly grateful.

It has baked alive some millions of Japanese beetles.

It has steamed the growing grubs in their own skins, roasted them in the hot earth, baked them to a tender brown, and then to make the job complete, cemented them into the dry earth.

E. T. Cresson, entomologist of the Academy of Natural Sciences, and a representative of the U. S. Japanese beetle quarantine office, fifty-second and Walnut streets, yesterday revealed the extent of the drought's gift to mankind.

"Our inspectors," said the United States expert, "have found the beetles solidly encased in the baked earth, and the longer the drought continues the more larvae will be killed.

"It is unfortunate, in this respect at least, that the drought came after most of the beetles had left the earth for the season. But those that did not certainly were caught by the dry spell. A beetle grub can emerge only from earth made soft by rain, and if there isn't any rain he simply sticks in the ground and bakes to death.

"The drought has probably also affected the numbers of other insects whose larvae are found in the ground, but we have not received any reports as to that. There seems to be the usual amount of insects of all kinds flying and hopping and crawling about. This is the season for grasshoppers, and they seem to be enjoying the dryness.

"The Japanese beetles are beginning to disappear now. They were particularly heavy this year in South and West Philadelphia, Delaware county, the City Line and along the Main Line."

ful of people crazy about him, and a big police dog who is so jealous that he may decide to swallow the interloper yet.

But the "yaller speckled pup" goes right on making friends and given half a chance will have the larger dog going to the front for him.

By the time you are reading this, the boy friend hopes to be over the hills and far away. It's the day for the takeoff. Not even carrying a sandwich or a pint of mayonnaise. Taking off in an easterly direction with probable head winds most of the way.

The lady on North Mercer street complains to this column that the folks aren't doing right by the dust nuisance. Seems as though they should get out and rub off the sidewalk a bit in the morning to which all of us agree. And if the folks up that way will snap into it, everybody else will be satisfied. And I hope this takes care of the question for the lady.

BIBLE CLASS ENJOYS OUTING FRIDAY EVENING

Members Of First Baptist Men's Bible Class Have Outing At Park

The Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist church of which George Fox is president, and Rev. G. M. Landis is teacher, enjoyed their annual outing Friday evening at Cascade Park when with their families they gathered to the number of 90 for the event. Mrs. D. R. Smith, in charge of table arrangements, had the long tables in the grove centered with baskets of garden flowers and when the tureens and baskets of deliciously prepared food were opened and placed thereon the tables fairly groaned under the load. When the inner man had been more than satisfied, then came a program of sports and games, with plenty of ringers marking the horse shoe pitching.

The mushball games between Rev. Landis' team and the team of Will Harris created plenty of excitement, the pastor's team defeating their opponents by an overwhelming score.

James Herbert and David Harris had the picnic arrangements in charge and so the laws in themselves cannot remedy our social problems. We must appreciate our RESPONSIBILITY as citizens of society to accomplish that.

George Fox, president of the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist church, urges all old members of the class to be in attendance at the Sabbath school session Sunday morning at 9:30 to welcome back the teacher, Rev. G. M. Landis, who has returned from his summer vacation.

Rev. Landis will speak on "Gold Plated Boards" which will be another message on the Tabernacle in the Wilderness, the wonderful building which was the center of Israel's worship for many centuries.

A large colored chart of the Tabernacle and the sacred vessels will be used in the expounding of this lesson.

MILLER'S ANTI-PAIN OIL
Formerly known as

Snake Oil

From coast to coast men and women are singing the praise of "Anti-Pain Oil"—a most powerful, penetrating, pain-relieving ointment. It will penetrate the thickest sole of a foot in a few minutes. Mrs. B. Werner, New Orleans, La., writes: "Thanks to your wonderful penetrating oil, I relieved me of Rheumatism and deep-seated cold after other remedies failed."

"I had Rheumatism in my leg I had to walk on crutches for two years. I gave it C. H. Miller's Anti-Pain Oil. The only ointment that ever gave me relief from Rheumatism. I use it regularly after being exposed to cold weather. For Rheumatism, Neuritis, numbness, stiff joints, pain in back and limbs, corns, bunions, chest colds, sore throat, Anti-Pain Oil is said to be without an equal."

The Way OF THE World
By GROVE PATTERSON

THE WHOLE ANSWER

Speaking of social problems that confront the world, H. W. McDavie, international president of the Kiwanis clubs, tells the whole answer when he says that "our big job is to find ourselves in the problem and see the part we can play. Just as laws cannot cure all the economic ills that beset the world, so the laws in themselves cannot remedy our social problems. We must appreciate our RESPONSIBILITY as citizens of society to accomplish that."

COURTESY

Courtesy may sometimes be the whole distance between failure and success. An Australian millionaire walked into a charitable institution and asked to see the head of the institution. A snappy secretary told him he would have to state his business or he couldn't go in. The visitor took a check for $5,000 out of his pocket, made out to the institution, tore it up and gave the fragments to the snappy secretary. Nothing wrong about the secretary's asking the visitor his business. But a secretary with sense plus courtesy could have done it in such a way as to have a pleasant impression. Discourtesy is much worse than a bad habit. It is a singularly acute kind of dumbness.

GOOD AND BAD TEACHERS

Sutton, superintendent of schools in Atlanta, knows what he is talking about when he says the stress in education must be put on the KIND OF TEACHERS. The right selection of studies, hours, system, equipment are important. The kind of teachers is more important. A child doesn't so much learn what the teacher tells them. He learns, through the teacher, about life, character, responsibility, culture.

GIVING OUT

And speaking of teachers and teaching, we often overlook a very simple fact. It is as follows: One can not give out what one does not have to give.

CHANGING OR CHANCELESS MAN

Some worry, saying man has not changed for the better in a thousand years. Not much to worry about. A great deal of change is just change—that's all. Peter the Hermit, 800 years ago, got folks all stirred up. Started them on crusades to the Holy Land. Looking back now at the crusades one wonders what they were all about. Changing for the sake of change doesn't mean much.

Dollar books will mean that many persons will ask the saleslady for something more expensive.—The Duluth Herald.

Templeton Raises Pretty Day Lilies

John Templeton Jr., of 141 Boyles avenue brought a beautiful specimen of the Mexican day lily or shell flower to the News Office this morning, which he has raised from bulbs secured from H. C. Stillings of this city. It was a deep red color with a mottled center.

These lilies bloom only during the daytime and last but a day. They begin opening during the early hours of dawn and by eight o'clock are in full bloom, dying at the end of the day.
